"Seeing the Southwest" EXCURSIONS

Doubtless you have heard of the Bumper Crops which have been raised this year in Arkansas, Louisiana, Oklahoma, Indian Territory, Texas and New Mexico. Have you compared them with results obtained in your section? Is your work where you are, bringing you adequate returns for the capital invested and the labor expended? If not, a change would be beneficial perhaps. A visit to the Southwest will open your eyes. Out in Oklahoma the last big land opening is soon to take place; farms are still very cheap in Western Arkansas, Northern Louisiana and the Gulf Coast of Texas. Let us give you full information about these sections. You will want to see them after you have examined our illustrated literature.

SECOND BEATING GIVEN STRANGER

Who Started Forth in Quest of Trouble.

Henry Gockel Knocked Him Out, but Whisky Braced Him for Another Round.

REFUSES TO TELL HIS NAME.

After filling up on the meanest whisky he could find, a stranger went into several business houses on South Third street cursing and abusing every one he met. He seemed to have no particular object in view other than to pick a quarrel, and when he reached Henry Gockel's bakery shop he got more than he bargained for.

Gockel sailed into the foul-mouthed stranger with both fists. He had the stranger confused in a jiffy, and after paying a few compliments to his face, gave him a stiff upper cut on the jaw. Exit the stranger. He did not stop spinning until he struck the curb and rolled into the street.

Next he went to a nearby saloon and swore at the bartender, and after getting another drink returned to the bakery shop where he got his second thrashing. After that he hid but was found by Patrolman Thad Terrell in a building in course of construction on North Second street. He refused to give his name.

TEST SUIT ON EIGHT-HOUR LAW.

Cincinnati Contractors to Take Statute to Supreme Court.

Cincinnati, Dec. 10.—The supreme court of the United States will be asked to pass on the constitutionality of the eight-hour labor law, the first action to that end being taken in the United States district court here today. The case was that of the Sheridan Kirk company, recently convicted of employing laborers for more than eight hours a day on a contract on a government dam below this city. The motion for a new trial was overruled, and the attorneys gave notice that on a writ of error the case would be taken to the United States supreme court on the ground that congress had no power under the constitution to pass such a law.

MANICURES

TRIM NAILS OF WORKERS IN THE PACKING HOUSE.

Chicago Stock Yards Decidedly A La Mode in Matter of Cleanliness These Days.

Chicago, Dec. 10.—Manicures at the Union stockyards!

The agitation demanding that the yards be cleaned up has reached this stage. Healthy animals, close inspection, proper tagging and labeling—these things have been facts for weeks. White aprons and well washed hands and faces are facts, too. But this cleanliness was not enough.

At the stockyards cleanliness has come to mean immaculateness, and as a result one of the largest concerns has established a manicuring department in their plant, and their action is likely to be followed by the other big concerns.

The new department is for the benefit of the workers who kill pigs, cut beef, and slaughter sheep, and the girls who dress the beef, swing the sausages and pack them away in tins. Everyone who handles the meat at this establishment has the benefit of a manicure's services.

Finger nails that shine in rosy beauty are the rule now "back of the yards." To be unmanicured is to be socially ostracized in the district to quite the same extent that the same cause would bring about over on the Lake Shore drive.

The manicures are decidedly pretty girls. Two of them in the dried beef department, Miss Ethel Mercer and Miss Dora Hillars, have special claims to beauty as well as to beautifying. They like their work, they say, and can manicure as many as fifty-three in a day, although forty is their usual assignment.

When the manicures have gone the rounds of the many thousand employees they begin all over again. Office employees are barred from the company's manicuring. The meat handlers and cannery only are cared for.

INVALID WILL STILL STANDS

Ewing College Accepts Compromise With the Hudelson Heirs.

Louisville, Ill., Dec. 10.—Notwithstanding the decision of the supreme court declaring invalid the will of William H. Hudelson, the document still stands. William H. Hudelson, for 59 years a resident of Clay county, who died in 1905, left three wills, all practically alike, giving to Ewing College his fortune of $125,000. Executor Dillman today probated the second will, dated July 15, 1903, and Ewing College compromised for $25,000 with the Hudelson heirs, who have sought in all the courts since the testator's death to set the documents aside. This ends all litigation. There are 37 heirs to this estate, no one of whom was left a dollar of the estate.

BROTHERS FIGHT FOR LOVE OF GIRL

One is Killed By Other, Who Wins Girl.

Andrew's Sweetheart Won by the Elder, Who Slays Him in Their Room.

TRAGEDY OF THE TENEMENT

New York, Dec. 10.—In a duel for the love of a girl Andrew Franzese, aged 18, 49 Havemeyer street, Brooklyn, was killed by his brother, Raessela Franzese two years his senior.

Andrew was engaged to marry Rose Ferrara, a beautiful girl of 18, who lives next door to the Franzese home. Raessela invited the girl to a dance without consulting Andrew, the girl acquiescing.

Locks Door of Room.
Before they returned from the ball she had fallen in love with Raessela. They agreed not to speak to Andrews about the sudden change of affection, but it was understood that Rose would wed Raessela instead of Andrew.

The girl continued to receive visits from Andrew, but each day she sent Raessela a warm love letter. One of the missives came to Andrew's hands last night. In anger he demanded to know from Raessela why he had stolen his sweetheart. Raessela gave a sneering reply and Andrew drew a dagger and told his brother to arm himself. They were in their room at the time.

Girl Changes Affection.
Raessela calmly walked to the door, locked it and tossed the key from the window. Then turning to his brother he drew a long knife from his pocket and coolly remarked: "I'm ready. Now try to kill me."
